

Workplace hazard ratings

If you're an employer, this information will help you determine your required first aid coverage based on your workplace hazard rating. Hazard ratings are assigned to your classification unit (CU) and reflect the nature and extent of the risks and hazards in your workplace.

You can find your CU's hazard rating by searching this document for your CU name or number, or by using the Contents below to help you browse by industry.

The information here is current as of June 15, 2024. Although WorkSafeBC makes every attempt to keep this information up to date, if there is any discrepancy then the hazard rating on the CU description sent to you each year and available online should be considered correct.
